New weapons and armor have been added to the game.

They include a pair of crossbow type weapons called the Strelitzia, and the Armadillo, the former of which fires blasts of shockwave for more damaging power and the latter of which throws a pair of mines that explode on impact.

The weapons all have powerful long-range or close-range attacks to suit different purposes, and all four of the weapons can be equipped with a light or heavy mod.

The armor has two types of armor, covering the body and the head. Both of these can be equipped with a light or heavy mod.

Monster Hunter 4 New What's New?

Monster Hunter 4: New plays a lot like Monster Hunter 3 Ultimate but has several addition features that go much deeper. This game is developed by Capcom about a month and half before the PC release.

- New Hunting Animals

The levels are scattered all over the game world so it is impossible to see every single one from the start. This leaves the hunters in a constant fight to see what's there in the frozen plains in the north, the opulent forest, the sprawling deserts, the hollows and other areas in that massive game world.
